Prices continued to move in a positive direction across all types at today's South Island Wool Sale. Competition was well spread amongst all Exporters which indicated everyone is doing business and the wool is moving. Lambs wool continues to be well sought after, with good increases in crossbred fleece. Preparation is an ongoing problem, with low prices causing farmers to minimise the cost in the woolshed. If the market can get through 23000 bales on offer next week with not too much correction all industry players will be very happy.
