TODAYS SALE : C05/22 SI Thursday / 4 August 2022

COMPARED TO : C03/22 SI Thursday / 21 July 2022

Prices remained firm to slightly dearer across all types at today's South Island sale. With quantities severely reduced due to the inclement weather during July, exporters were desperate to fill short term orders. There is certainly a positive upward trend for better colour fleece and second shear. The beginning of Mid Micron wools coming forward saw 27 to 31 micron increase of up to 5%. The world economy continues to cause issues, with shipping still a major issue. China continues to be very quiet especially in the fine crossbred types. Mud is going to be a major factor going forward so good preparation is imperative.
