Prices for all crossbred types took a correction downwards at today's South Island sale. Most types were easier by up to 7% which was disappointing as confidence was beginning to come back to the market in recent weeks. Still some concern when the North Island scour will be operational, which has seen customers overseas waiting until some clarity can be given to when deliveries can be made. Mid micron (21 to 30 micron) also eased by up to 4 to 5%. The final offering of any quantity of merino wools saw the market make some gains on the back of a solid Australian market recently.
